

DID YOU KNOW...

A pair of breeding cats, which can have two or more litters per year, have the potential to exponentially produce 420,000 offspring over a seven - year period.

Have you noticed that there are stray cats crawling all over this town and every farm and ranch in the area?

Vale Veterinary Clinic, in association with Vale Animal Rescue is spaying and neutering feral cats. So far this year we have done 65 surgeries. Using the math from above, that's over 13 million cats that will not be produced in our area in the next 7 years. Most of those cats come to a gruesome and violent end or survive to live in your neighborhood likely infested with parasites and fleas.

Vale Animal Rescue is a 501(c) (3) and operates solely on the generosity of people just like you. VCC is taking a proactive approach in providing our facilities and abilities at a greatly reduced price to aid in solving this problem. If you would like to make a tax deductible contribution, please contact Heidi Zanutelli or us here at the clinic.

Vale Animal Rescue also arranges for foster care, adoptions and other services as the need arises. This is all done by volunteers. If you would like to help in these areas, contact Heidi. They provide a needed and appreciated service to our community.

Vale Veterinary Clinic • 541-473-3231
1590 John Day Hwy • Vale, OR 97918